

The chemical structure is a complex organic molecule featuring several fused and linked rings. It includes a benzene ring on the left, a five-membered ring containing a nitrogen atom, and a six-membered ring on the right. The structure is highly branched and contains multiple functional groups, including amine groups and a carbonyl group. The molecule is drawn with black lines on a white background.

